Updates from the Vermont Environmental Consortium's Fall Annual Member Meeting & Expo 2008

Our Fall Meeting and Expo on Monday, October 27th was a great success. A special thanks to Norwich University for hosting the event and being such a strong supporter of VEC over the years. With 80 attendees and 11 sponsors at the event, the Vermont Environmental Consortium (VEC) is strongly positioned to serve as Vermont's "go-to" partner for the environmental business sector.

Key highlights from this important event include a very insightful and strategic presentation on the Energy Future for Vermont by Mary Powell, CEO of Green Mountain Power, The Bio-digester Project at Vermont Technical College by Daniel Hecht, Green Economy Research by Frank Cioffi of The Greater Burlington Industrial Corporation (GBIC), The New Biomass Facility by Thomas Corbin of Middlebury College, as well as the filming of a feature video production of the event, our keynote speaker and sponsors by Bill Heyman and Rick Garren of VermontTV.net.

We also have some new directors to welcome to the VEC Board! A special welcome to:

- Joan Richmond, Vermont Technical College
- Thomas Broido, ATC Associates, Inc.
- Frank Cioffi, Greater Burlington Industrial Corporation (GBIC)
- Melody Burkins, The University of Vermont

Looking ahead, we here at VEC look forward to closely partnering and working with you to promote and grow the environmental business sector of Vermont's economy. Our next member meeting and conference will be held in late winter or early spring. Stay tuned!

Sincerely,

Jill Michaels
VEC President
